Creative, dynamic and jack of all trades, I am looking for a professional training contract. I began a professional reorientation in 2019 in web development, before that I was working in my own recording studio. I am now currently working at Enedis as a full stack Symfony 4/Angular 9 developer. As I would like to improve my set of skills, I am looking for a job that would be challenging and that would let me learn new things. I am a fast learner, eager for knowledge, and I will be available in September 2021.
